The idea is simple. To catch more fish, you need to stand. And, to assist you in this endeavour, Freedom Hawk's kayaks are engineered as the most technically advanced fishing kayaks in the world.

In short, they are designed to put you in a position to catch more fish.

Three years ago, Dave Cameron, the company's founder, recognised the need for a better fishing craft, one that combined the comfort of a canoe with the agility and efficiency of a kayak. Combining his mechanical-design background and a love for fishing and paddling, the idea behind Freedom Hawk Kayaks was cast.

From that inspiration,

Freedom Hawk and the Freedom 12 was born. A boat that can take you from paddling to stand-up fishing in seconds, the perfect union of stability and performance, the Freedom 12 is the ultimate fishing kayak.

Now, with its invention of the patented in-line easy-to-deploy outrigger system and the addition of the Freedom 12 and the Freedom 12 Ultralight, the company is providing anglers with more options than ever before.

The journey to this point has been amazing and, through the company's efforts, fishermen, hunters, photographers and outdoor enthusiasts can better enjoy their dreams and hobbies... Oh, yeah... and catch more fish!

Freedom 12 Stand-Up Kayak Fishing

For a whole new level of stand-up kayak fishing, the patented in-line outrigger system gives the angler options. In position one it paddles like a conventional kayak. Position two offers additional stability and position three offers maximum efficiency when paddling, fishing, poling, or motoring.

With its lightweight hull and rugged engineering, this boat allows the standing fisherman to stalk fish while experiencing less drag and water movement and to achieve more paddling stability in challenging conditions.
